To whom it may concern:

It is with great pleasure that I recommend Corcoran Construction! Lee Corcoran and his competent staff worked with our building team through every phase of our project, and consistently displayed competence, character, fairness, and dependability.

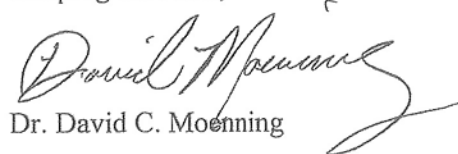

Since this was our church's first building project we naturally had many questions regarding the "nuts and bolts" of constructing a 12,300 square foot multipurpose facility. Without fail, Corcoran Construction was patient and responsive to our questions, and consistently pointed us in the right direction. Their knowledge of the construction industry, as well as the City of Deltona's permitting and code requirements, allowed for a smooth building experience from start to finish.

It's often said that, "First impressions are lasting impressions." Our first impression of Corcoran Construction has remained consistent through the duration of this project, and that is that they are a God-honoring, client-oriented, results-driven general contractor that views each building contract as a partnership in which they are committed to glorifying God and pleasing the client in a spirit of excellence.

On behalf of Pine Ridge Fellowship and our building team it is a pleasure for me to recommend Corcoran Construction to you for your building needs!

God bless you!

Keeping the Faith,

Dr. David C. Moenning
